Mr. Henning of Palatine was also here and said that he should appreciate what these men are doing for them.

ARLINGTON HT'S.

Of course you've heard that a storm is on.

Also you've heard people keep up Christmas shopping.

Mr. Peter Thomas of Kensington road left here first of the week on a business trip to New York.

Mrs. Wm. Tesch came over from Wheeling Tuesday to visit her daughter, Mrs. Charles Pavel on West Wing street.

The friends of Mrs. Margaret Harris are sorry to hear she has not been usually well the past week or more.

Mrs. Bergholt who has been ill and shut in for so long was cheered by a number of her friends remembering her with flowers and other kindly gifts.

Mrs. R. Davis left a week ago or more to be with her father, Mr. Martin who was seriously ill. He died last Saturday, but Mrs. Davis is staying to be with her mother who is now quite ill.

Mr. Cecil McWharter is serving on the jury in Chicago this week. Toney Lukhauf has been sick the past week with a severe case of the prevalent colds.

Those relatives from out of town who came to attend Mrs. Wilcox funeral in her home Tuesday were Mr. Wilcox brothers, William and Richard, and Mrs. Wilcox nieces, Ione, Marjory and Mrs. Helen Alshore. Rev. Samuel Taylor of the M. E. church held a brief service and Mr. Ivan Shepard sang. The family with the funeral cortege left here to go to Warsaw, Indiana, the old home of the Tibbets and Wilcox families and there among her own people. The body of Mrs. Wilcox was laid to rest. Mr. Jacob Scheirick who has been ill for some time is still detained at his home unable to go about.

Mrs. Diedrich from Chicago was the guest of her sister, Miss Heiser in her home here the first of this week.

News? Rather an unsuccessful time for news gathering and that can be gathered is about preparations for Christmas and the storm and accidents.

The Commonwealth Edison Co. are to give their annual Christmas party and Christmas play for the children at Medinah temple Saturday afternoon and evening. Each child beside seeing the play will receive a gift of a pound of candy. Mr. and Mrs. Raoul Feeter and their sons with the Bacons of Mount Prospect will go together. The Milligans and others from here are planning to go.

Mrs. Frank Sachs entertained the ideal club in her home on East Euclid Thursday afternoon and you may be sure they had an ideal good time.

Henry and Elizabeth Garland were detained at home from school first of this week on account of severe colds.

Down on the subway we hear that cars and trucks were heaped in a disastrous mixup on account of skidding and other troubles incident to the bad weather conditions.

Ten days without sunshine and this is Thursday, Dec. 19. However let us remember how many glorious days of sunshine we have enjoyed this fall and a few days of cloud and storm makes us appreciate sunshine when it comes as it always does.

Here are some incidents of the road during the storm: Dr. and Mrs. Pretzel from Lake Zurich, had been in Chicago and Wednesday started in their car to go to their home in Zurich. The storm was hindering and the road blocked by the storm so they lost their bearings and somehow got off Rand their right way home on to Euclid. Finally drew up at "The Synaish Inn" and asking for some one who would give them a room for the night and one party who had rooms informed them they didn't "keep tramps." A happy thought reminded them. They were at Arlington Heights where their friends G. R. Wolf's lived. Soon they came and spent the night, resting from their exhaustion. Thursday they took the train for home learning the roads between here and there were impossible.

It took Mr. Arthur Wiese three hours to get home from Mount Prospect Wednesday night. And those who haven't had the experience can realize but little of the difficulties encountered. It brings to mind the blizzards of the northwest where so many lives have been lost.

Parcel carrier Gross was carrying his carload of Christmas cheer Thursday and as he rounded a corner on North Duntun Ave., his car skidded and though the packages were kept safe the car was damaged. Another reminder of what those faithful carriers go through to serve us.

Some homes can have an extra Merry Xmas for only $85.00. At the Marie Beulah Schaefer Music Store is a wonderful bargain in a beautiful Lyon & Healy made Walnut piano and bench. 1436 Miner street, Des Plaines, Ill.

Ensign George F. Beardsley, U. S. N., who is attached to the air department of the U. S. S. Lexington will spend Christmas at Tacoma, Wash. Owing to shortage of water power at Tacoma the government is allowing the Lexington to furnish 220,000 h. p. to stranded manufacturers of that city for thirty days.

Mrs. Ella Peterson's Funeral to Be Held At M. E. Church

Mrs. Ella M. Peterson, mother of Mrs. Stewart B. Alden, 501 Haddon street, Arlington Heights, passed away at the Presbyterian hospital, Chicago, 7:30 o'clock Tuesday morning. Mrs. Alden is her only child. Mrs. Peterson leaves a sister, Mrs. Cassie Brown.

The funeral will be at the First Methodist church, Arlington Heights this (Friday) afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Samuel Taylor, minister of the church, and Rev. Allan Billman, former pastor, to officiate. Interment will be at Graceland cemetery, Irving Park boulevard and Clark street, Chicago.

Womans Club Notes

The Woman's club met Wednesday in the American Legion home. You will be surprised to learn there were 21 present to hear the program, the main feature being an address, "Advantages of Scientific Cooking" by Miss Carey Clark.

Mrs. G. K. Volz was chairman. Music, the sextet, sang. Mr. Whitmore addressed the club on the financial situation in regard to its effect on the public schools.

The redoubtable, unfailing entertainment committee furnished eats so much enjoyed by all of us who are reducing, or at any rate we do all enjoy their delicious pie and coffee a cold day. There was no special business. A bakery sale is planned to be given some time in January. Announced next week.

SouthSideBreezes

Believe it or not, it snowed on the south side, too! At least several of the south siders claimed they were snowed under. Now! Now! Anyway! the snow does drift beautifully out there in the wide open spaces doesn't it?

We hope all those ardent snow lovers are contented now, that have been constantly crying for snow. Of course they will all be out these mornings shoveling snow enthusiastically. As for others, who prefer the warm summer months, will they not be content to curl up on the divan and listen to the radio. In other words be on the inside, looking out.

LONELY
Oh! When the parting of the ways is here,
And sadly do our loved ones go away,
When we are left behind sorrowing, pray
That Fate be kind to those we hold most dear;
In vain we try to check those outer tears.

Each one reminding us that we must stay
Alone—our lives now empty, we must say,
The joys of yesterday must go.
A year
Could not seem longer than tomorrow.

How can we live without love's radiant light
Shining on our lonely hearts? It would show
Us the way to happiness, but without
A father, mother, dear friend, or lover
We cannot smile the longing stays forever.

Church Notes

Sunday is the last Advent Sunday before the Christmas festival. In the morning the usual services will be held, and at 7:30 in the evening, Missionary Schroeder will deliver a message on the mission work of our church in India. Rev. Schroeder has served faithfully and well in our India field for eight years and is at present on furlough in the United States delivering lectures and sermons in the interest of the cause. He will appear at the altar and in the pulpit in the white clerical garb worn by our missionaries of India. He has also promised to place on public display some object of interest such as pictures, cloth, utensils and idols which he has brought with him. The public is cordially welcome at this missionary service Sunday evening.

Elaborate preparations are being made to make the Christmas services and programs the most beautiful and spiritual in the history of our congregation. An outstanding event is the Christmas program presented by the grades of our Day school on Christmas Eve. The program will be made distinctive by the singing of two strikingly beautiful Christmas cantatas on the birth of the Savior. At the close of this service all children will receive a box of good candy and a Christian story book.

The services on Christmas morning will emphasize the great event commemorated on that day, the birth of God's Son in the manger of Bethlehem. Rev. Fricke will seek to impress the grand truths of the incarnation on hearts of his hearers by preaching on the theme: "The Angels' Christmas Sermon." The choir have prepared two effective choral numbers to enhance the attractiveness of the service.

The festivities of the Christmas season will be brought to a fitting close by the Christmas program offered by the Sunday school, December 23, at 8 p. m. in the school auditorium. It is the most ambitious program attempted by the school. The outstanding features will be a pantomime depicting the Christmas story a play by the Senior department entitled, "The First Christmas" and another play by the Bible class, "The King Enquires." All children taking part will be fully garbed in harmony with the Bible characters they represent. Every pupil of the Sunday school will be remembered by an attractive gift.

The Christmas spirit
Much is written about the "Christmas spirit" at this season. Magazines and newspapers speak of it and endeavor to foster it. But what is it? What prompts it and how does it manifest itself? Christmas has become a festival of almost universal celebration, but just what are most people celebrating? The majority of celebrants would find it difficult to give a definite reason for their festivities. They would perhaps be able to speak in vague platitudes and rambling generalities of "peace and goodwill" among men and of the sentiments of brotherhood and unselfishness, of a sort of indefinite idealism which they claim to find personified in the Child in the manger. There is a rather pitiful endeavor in some way to justify the Christmas observance and the labored attempt to manufacture a joyousness which is not truly spontaneous.

The true Christmas spirit can emanate only from a heart that sees in the miracle of Bethlehem the "mystery of godliness. God manifest in the flesh" and rejoices over the fact that in the Christ in the manger salvation has come out of Zion. The joy has no unnatural ring, no forced quality where men gather around the manger bed of Bethlehem in adoration of the "Word made flesh" and the Son of God come to be the world's Redeemer. With their sins forgiven, their life's problems solved, their happy eternity settled, men can indeed be happy and can show cause for the Christmas spirit. Then the Christmas spirit is the natural expression of happy and grateful hearts. It is based on the blessed truth proclaimed by the angel at Bethlehem: "Unto you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, which is Christ the Lord." There is no indefiniteness or vagueness about it. It is a real and tangible thing, based on simple and yet divinely mysterious facts.

Joyously, then, the members of St. Peter's Lutheran church will go in spirit to Bethlehem to adore Him who has wrought their salvation. During the Holy night they will assemble to listen to the old, old story as sung and recited by the little ones. As the dawn of the most blessed day of all the year dim the light of the Christmas candles, they will gather in their house of worship to hear the old and ever new tidings: "Unto you is born a Savior, there is peace between God and man, your life has a meaning and a purpose after all, a blessed eternity awaits you." Will you not join the throng that gathers about the manger of Bethlehem in our church and worship the new-born King? You are welcome, friend!

OBSERVER'S NOTES

If you get up at six o'clock, it gives your system quite a shock; To leave your nice warm bed, But think of those who rise at four To work ten hours, it may be more; Improvements safe to spread, The paving and the drainage ditch In cold and wet, as dark as pitch Thus while they bravely forge ahead, Digging to earn their daily bread, They may some day be rich.

Tough getting out these cold, damp mornings to go to work. Think of all the men who must labor to install our modern improvements, and the other scores who go on trains to work in the city and other towns. Up and off to catch that early train while most of us sleep another hour or two.

It's all right to say "All men are born free and equal" but when it comes to getting up time "the works and the clerks" don't have any show with the shiks who can go leisurely on their own time. You know the old rhyme: He that would thrive must rise at seven.

He that hath thriven may lie till seven. Rhyme or reason, aside I'm sorry for those who have to go to their work out in the darkness so early.

Overwork and long hours is not confined to diggers and sewers alone. Didn't you read about that boy who spelled for ten hours? Read about the strenuous hours, prize fighters, football players and all manner of sport fans have to put in. Better work that unfair sport that overstrains and handicaps you for the worthwhile things of life.

By the way, heard this very illuminating bit over radio. "All these big games, prize fights and other so-called sports, are used as gambling and betting factors through which a certain number of millionaires add to their millions. Think of it? And there are those who call it educational. Sport is all right for sports sake, but when it comes to brutal sport it is no longer sport but barbarism let loose.

Have heard so much the past week of the dangerous conditions and accidents on the highway. Wouldn't it be well for those of us who only go because of pleasure or some like reason, wouldn't it be better if we kept our cars off the main streets and thus make the way safer for ourselves and for those whose business compels them to go and they are many?

Always have had to contend with a rather "quick" temper. With increasing years have found I can shrink it some times after regrets by attributing it to childishness or better yet to nervousness. Isn't it funny about the people who lay their deeds of omission and commission to nervousness? This peccadillo or whatever class it comes under, does not confine itself to persons of any particular age. Why a little girl of six, threw her arms up in an approved movie gesture the other day and said "O, those noisy trucks make me so nervous!"

Thoughtfully speaking, it is small wonder if the children of our day do have "nerves," when they are allowed to visit movies older people shrink from witnessing. Another thing we heard over radio in the children's hour, the other day, a child reciting the story of her life, so called in which she told how barbarous her parents treated her and in excited language unfit for a child to hear, she vowed she would kill her self and her parents too.

And we heard the children's story hour was full of sweet happy stories for children! How long ago is it since the story of Cock Robin demise had to be revised to brave the gore out of it, because of bad effect on children? Certainly we are becoming more and more inconsistent in our care for our children. Listen in, attend the movies and read some of the new children's stories and be convinced.

When you see the nice airy clothing for women picture in the advertisements for this winter season, you are convinced of another good reason for not burning the leaves. Just think of Adam had burned the leaves in the garden of Eden especially the fig leaves, what would Eve have clothed herself in. O well, they, these new fig leaf substitutes, look real nice, but a bit airy.

Leaves, bring visions of old time woodlands where tall walnut and butternut trees grew, where the ax of our father and his help, rang out through the forest aisles as they prepared the huge logs for winter wood. Where at times strange silences prevailed broken only by the quit, quit of a wild turkey or the vexed call of the blue-jay or the barking of a fox in the far thickets, and some times the chatter of squirrels gathering their store of nuts into a hollow tree for winter's use.

Just such a place and bordered by just such quiet shut in solitudes as Emerson tells about, only his was breath of the pines when he wrote: And when I am stretched beneath the pines, Where the evening star so holy shines; I laugh at the lore and pride of man At the sophist's schools, and the learned clan, For what are they in their high conceits. When man in the bush with God may meet?

What do you know about Arlington Heights? Saw a group of men walking along our streets not long since and I suspected they were trying to find out some thing about the town. I wonder if they really did. One may go about a place daily and know or find out but little about it. I've talked with friends who had been across seas in other lands and what they knew of places visited was small compared to the things they should have known from books.

Heard a man talking the other night who had been around the world eight times and he knew much about the conditions he was traveling to investigate. Yet these are those who travel much and see little. I recall Mrs. Olive Allison's story of her first trip out west and the wonder of the mountain scenery to her. Yet she said a woman in the same car with her found fault with everything and saw nothing to admire.

Eyes have they but they see not ears but they do not hear; and so people miss the best there is in life because they are blind and deaf to the highest and best appeal. It isn't the amount of money you spend that gives the greatest results, my friend. It is just the giving of self and love, that brought God's greatest gift from above.

Now, at this blessed Christmas time, if you have but little to give of money value, give of your helpfulness, your sympathy, your love, Charles Kingsley said—"If you are fortunate to have knowledge another does not possess, share your knowledge with him. Knowledge is of no use unless shared, so it is with all good gifts all blessing. They increase in sharing.

If you have a noble thought, All your soul uplifting; Sparkling like the flames caught, From bright clouds above you drifting, It will grow if you declare it Share it, share it.

Does some joy up to your door, Merrily come dancing, Driving care away before; All its gay advancing, If you would gracefully wear it, Share it, share it.

Have you hope and health and youth All the joy of living; This you'll find a golden truth, They increase with giving, If life's joy you long would wear it, Share it, share it.

When your ships come sailing in, Laded with rich treasure; If you greater gain would win, And the purest pleasure, Gain increasing as you bear it, Share it, share it.

On your life when shadows fall, And your heart seems breaking; Go where other's sufferings call, Hope and sunshine making, Healing comes as you declare it, Share it, share it.

It was a real joy to meet one who thinks, yes thinks almost savagely when he is just dead sure his conclusions are right. Even when I cannot quite agree with his "doxie."

It is refreshing to meet one who thinks for himself and is dead sure he is right. I do agree that we have dipped far over into Paganism in many of our so-called Christian customs at Christmas time. It is appalling in the echo of tales of starvation the world over, to see the reckless spending of money for Christmas toys and gew gaws that will perish with the tree and the candles.

It takes so little to make children happy, just simple things and let them get all the joy possible out of letting them save on their own Christmas treats and toys and play Santa with their savings to the little children who are starving. In the name of the dear Babe in the manger, who is our Lord and loving Savior, lead the children to share of their Christmas good gifts with the poor little children who are starving in our land and in lands afar.

It seems sad to have death take our loved ones, any time, but some how it seems doubly sad, when all the world is making ready for Christmas and holiday home gatherings. How sad to have the circle broken and joy turned to mourning. This week our friend, Mrs. Wilcox, will be missed from her pretty new home, where her life companion will sit alone.

Mrs. Reuben Davis went to Wisconsin to be at her old home in time to see her father pass away.

Weeping lastest for a night, but joy cometh in the morning, let us think of the joy for those who are released from pain and can hear the angel songs on Christmas morn with ears untroubled by the confusion of earth sounds. If we could only see how glad and free they are, we would rejoice in their joy.

This is written December 17, and today they are celebrating the 24th anniversary of Wilbur Wright's first triumphal flight, which crowns him king of the air for all time. No aviator can claim higher or more valourously won honor than Wilbur Wright. His example to all who seek to fly should never fail to be impressed. He would not fly on Sunday unless for some needed purpose. His disapproval of stunt flying and spectacular shows he was king of the air, and greater yet, a kindly Christian man.

The following poem written soon after the death of Wilbur Wright, with later revision, is given to honor this day and date by one who proudly claims him as her kin.

Father of flight, deane claimed him, And no more does the loud Throbbing murmur of his plane Draw the eyes of men, Amazed to see him soar.

No more that skillful hand, And teeming brain; Achieve new triumphs,

Where his fame was won, The patient kindly heart, Has long been stilled His labor over, His splendid tasks well done, He rests as one Whose mission is fulfilled, 'Twas his to realize The elusive dream, That man had cherished From far distant days, When leavies essayed His mad man's scheme, Ever he toiled by seeking endless ways, By rugged paths, Toward the light afar, He bore the flag, His dauntless soul unfurled, Serene in faith, Of that bright guiding star, Which shone for him and his On all the world.

Today a youth like him, Silent and strong, Comes he that vacant place to claim A follower in the race.

The Lone Eagle worthy Deserving well the name, And ever in his place, Reading in awe words the worth, To which Wright's fertile brain gave birth,

Shall he not cleave the air, And trumpet forth the fame, To all the distant corners of the earth,

His master's victory declare, And his illustrious name, Ever his name shall sound, From sea to sea, He was the pioneer, In conquest of the air, And his a rightful share, In all the wonders yet to be, Elinore Crisler Haynes.

Needs Parsonage; Check for $10,000 Is a Good Start

Rev. Allan Billman of Lake Forest, recently of Arlington Heights, was a welcome caller at the Herald office Tuesday afternoon.

Having just received a $10,000 donation for the church for the purpose of building a parsonage, he was in more, if anything, than his usual good spirits.

They are keeping Mr. Billman busy over there. He spoke before the P. T. A. Wednesday afternoon, then Wednesday evening at the Cosmopolitan club at the Young Women's Christian association, Thursday evening at the Kwanis club Christmas party, this morning at the Lake Forest university student chapel, and will speak again this evening at the meeting of the American legion. That is perhaps all he has had to prepare in the way of speeches before Sunday.

He will take a rest Sunday evening, when Mr. E. M. Miller of Arlington Heights will preach for him and Mrs. Miller will sing.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"God the Preserver of Man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, December 15.

The Golden Text was, "The Lord preserveth all them that love him" (Psalms 145:20).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was following from the Bible: "For the faith the high and lofty One that inhabiteth eternity, whose name is Holy; I dwell in the high and holy place, with him also that is of a contrite and humble spirit, to revive the spirit of the humble, and to revive the heart of the contrite ones. I have seen his ways, and will heal him" (Isaiah 57:15, 18).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The divine Mind, which forms the body and blossom, will care for the human body, even as it clothes the lily; but let no mortal interfere with God's government by thrusting in the laws of erring, human concepts" (p. 62).

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our Dear Mother, who passed away 1 year ago, on the 18th of December, Mrs. John Weide of Mt. Prospect, Ill.

If we had seen you at the last, and held your dying hand, and heard the last sigh from your heart, we would not feel so bad. We did not know if pain you had, we did not see you die, we only knew you went away, and could not say goodbye.

From Lonesome Children, and Grandchildren.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear wife who passed away one year ago today, Dec. 21, 1928.

All is sad within our dwelling,
Lonely are our hearts today;
For the one we loved so dearly
Has forever passed away.
She was too pure for this world,
Too beautiful to stay.
So the angels came and bore,
My precious wife away.
Oh, so oft our thoughts do wander
To a grave not far away;
Where we laid my dear Ella,
Just one year ago today.
Sadly missed by her husband,
Henry H. Botterman.

Heaviest Milkers Need Most Feed

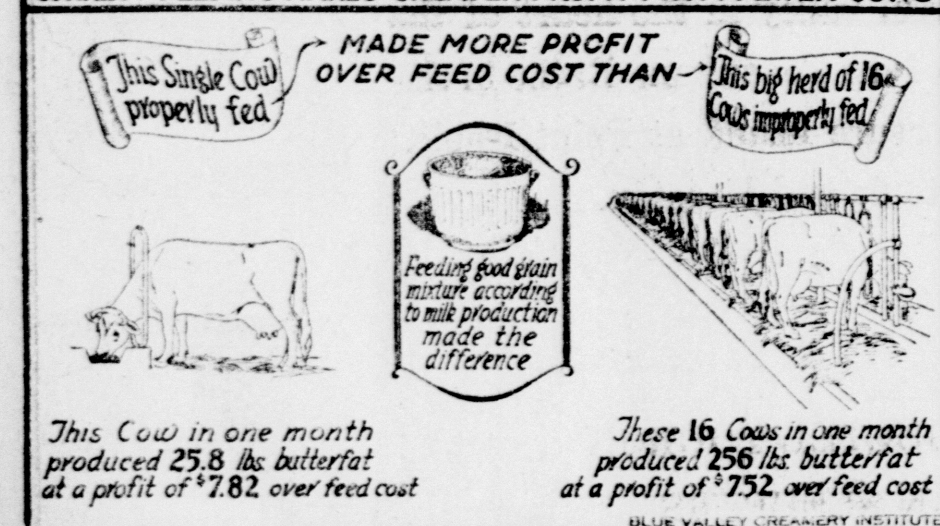

Feeding each cow good milk-making grain mixture according to her milk production is the quickest, surest and most practical way to make the greatest profit from a dairy herd, says the Blue Valley Creamery Institute. Good rations and economical production go hand in hand. Every dairy cow requires just so much feed to keep herself in good condition, at the proper weight, and in good health. Feed consumed over and above these maintenance requirements are used for making milk. And the more milk a cow is capable of making, the more feed she needs from which to make it. And once she has the feed a cow is capable of converting into milk is supplied, there is nothing gained by feeding her any more. On the other hand, to feed her less than she requires for her maximum production is a sure way to keep milk production costs high.

The value of feeding a good milk-making grain mixture in accordance with the production of each individual cow is well shown by the record of an Indiana dairy herd improvement association. A number of cows in this association all received the same amounts of grain. Another group of cows was fed one pound of grain to each three or four pounds of milk produced. The cows that were all fed alike in one month produced an average of 444 pounds of milk and 16 pounds of butterfat per cow. The average profit over feed cost was 47 cents for the month. The other group of cows, fed grain according to production, produced an average of 572 pounds of milk and 25.8 pounds of butterfat during the month at a profit over feed cost of $7.62 per cow. The profit over feed cost on the cow fed correctly in this association was greater than the profit on 16 cows not fed grain properly, for the 16 cows made a return of only 47 cents each for the entire month, or $7.62.

A good rule to follow in order to feed cows most economically for greatest milk production is to give them all the alfalfa or other legume hay they will eat, feed them silage at the rate of three pounds to each 100 pounds of the cow's weight, and grain at the rate of one pound for each 3 pounds of milk produced by cow producing over 4 per cent butterfat milk and one pound of grain to each 1 pound of milk by cows producing lower testing milk.

CORRECT FEEDING MAKES GREATER PROFIT FROM FEWER COWS

The True Christmas Spirit

Again Christmas is just around the corner. The shopping districts are gay with their bright display of toys. Children wait eagerly for the time when mamma and daddy will take them down to see Santa Claus. The air is beginning to be filled with the hustle and bustle of Christmas. What a happy season it is for most people! We actually enjoy being crowded in the toy department.

But what is the spirit that we find in the Christmas air? Children who believe in Santa Claus are the ones who come nearest to the real Christmas spirit. They have climbed on daddy's knee and asked him to tell them the beautiful story of the Christ child. They are the ones who really think about Him and what He brought to the world.

Children in their teens look forward to Christmas as a time when they can spend their time as they choose. They are too busy, (or think they are), to think about the Christmas spirit. Their idea of Christmas is gifts and holidays. When we give Christmas gifts, what is our reason? We say, "To spread good cheer." Too often we say this but we really mean that we give gifts because we get them in return. We give them, not because we want to, but because we are obliged to.

The Christmas spirit is more evident among the poor than the wealthy. Those who do not have even the bare necessities of life are often more thankful than those who have every luxury. The rich find more pleasure in helping to bring joy to the poor than they do in buying the most expensive Christmas gift. By doing so, they find the meaning of the words, "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

Good-By

An elderly neighbor called on the family one afternoon for the first time. Everything went well until, she left, and the family told her good-bye and asked her to come again. Then three-year-old Larry spoke up and said: "Good-bye, good-bye forever."

Intensive Breeding

Line breeding consists in breeding within a few closely related stocks or families, no animals being interbred which are not closely connected in the general line of their blood.

TUBERCULOSIS ASSOCIATION HAS BIRTHDAY

Twenty-five Years of Big Results for Humanitarian Effort

In considering the twenty-fifth birthday of one of our oldest organized health movements we are inclined to feel that a decade has been a long period of time. The National Tuberculosis association which was founded in 1904 and this year celebrates its twenty-fifth birthday has crowded these years so full of accomplishment that we are inclined, and rightly too, to regard it as a grandfather among organizations.

When the National Tuberculosis association was formed, there was only one other non-official health agency of a national character in the entire United States, the American Public Health association, which was organized in 1872. It had no operating program, however, and its energies were devoted largely to the publication of a magazine and the conduct of an annual meeting. Thus the National Tuberculosis association became the first organized health promotion agency of a non-official character in the country, with a nation-wide scope and program, and has served as a model for many of the other specialized public health movements.

Laymen as well as physicians were included in its membership from the beginning and its purpose to help the country both economically as well as socially in combating the scourge of tuberculosis has been manifested in many more ways than in the chief outwardly-seen one, namely, the greatly reduced death-rate.

For twenty-five years the National Tuberculosis association has been a leader in organized education of the public in the ways of health. By emphasizing the need for rest, fresh air, food, cleanliness, sanitary living and working places, freedom from fatigue in various occupations as well as the need of suitable institutions for incipient and advanced cases of tuberculosis, this association has made its greatest contribution. It has made the public health-conscious.

In looking back over the twenty-five years these are some of the actual results they have helped to bring about. In 1904 there were 115 sanatoriums in the United States with an aggregate bed capacity of 9,107. January 1, 1929, there were 618 tuberculosis hospitals and sanatoriums with a combined capacity of 73,695 beds. There were no tuberculosis dispensaries or clinics in 1904. In 1928 there were 3,671. The first open-air school was established in Providence, Rhode Island, in 1908, and now there are at least 1,000 schools for children from tuberculosis homes or who are sub-standard in health. There were now more than ten public health nurses who devoted a definite part of their time to tuberculosis work twenty-five years ago. Now there are 7,115. There are eighty-three preventorium for children. In 1904 there were in existence twenty tuberculosis associations, of which number only eight had money or active programs. Now there is a state association in every state and there are local associations in the larger cities and counties numbering 1,454. The Chicago Tuberculosis Institute is the organization for Chicago and Cook county.

The association was founded for the study as well as for the prevention of tuberculosis and research has been carried on from the beginning. In 1920 a formal committee on Medical Research was organized and the influence of its coordinated studies and discoveries has already been marked.

These are briefly a few of the visible accomplishments of the twenty-five year old movement. In supporting its work through buying Christmas seals the funds of which are used to carry on the campaign it is well to remember that twenty-five years is a comparatively short time and that there is much more to be done. There are believed to be still over 500,000 living cases of tuberculosis in this country. There are far too many patients being admitted to sanatoriums in the late stages of the disease. Although we can rejoice that the death-rate has been cut in half, yet in the period 15 to 45 tuberculosis still takes more lives than any other disease. Here is the primary productive group of our nation, with one out of every five deaths occurring there caused by tuberculosis.

There can be no feeling of self-satisfied complacency on this twenty-fifth birthday. Rather should there be a renewed ambition to go forward. Armed with mature experience, it will be the aim to reach that goal when tuberculosis shall be reduced to a comparative minimum.

Mrs. Coolidge has autographed a sheet of Christmas health seals which are to be sold at a radio auction on Sunday, December 22, from 6:00 to 6:45 p.m., over WMAQ. The sheet is in charge of the Chicago Tuberculosis Institute, and will be displayed at The Fair in the meantime.

Stores, clubs, hotels, groups of any kind, as well as individuals, are invited to bid. Bids may be sent to the institute in advance, or delivered into the microphone in person, or telephoned to WMAQ Sunday evening. Those received after 6:45 will be announced after 10:00 p.m. at which time the highest bid will be proclaimed.

Mr. Marvin A. Barlow, a well-known auctioneer, will join with Pratt, Sherman and Rudolph, the celebrated doctors of humor and humor, in conducting the auction. A fine chance to buy a unique Christmas gift and donate a lot of good health at the same time.

FOOD
THE late J. Ogden Armour once boasted publicly that he intended to control the world's food supply. The other day his estate was settled in Chicago. There wasn't enough money left to pay debts, by some $2,000,000.

In Ogden Armour's time it might have been possible for one man to send the price of food up or down as he willed. It is impossible today, and it will be forever impossible when the food producers of the nation fully avail themselves of the opportunity to control their own markets which is open to them under the Federal Farm Board Act.

RADIO
SOMEbody has to pay for radio broadcasting. In England the listeners pay, by an annual tax on receiving sets, and the Government controls the operation of the broadcasting stations. That is a system which Americans would never tolerate. There is too much Government regulation of the spoken word as well as of print, even now.

In this country it is the advertisers who pay for broadcasting. Advertising and the distribution of news and information are a proper function of newspapers. Some newspapers now operate broadcasting stations, and their programs are among the best on the air. In the natural evolution of things, newspapers will some day take over all broadcasting.

RAILROADS
AUTOMOBILES have been common for twenty-five years, but average train speeds have not increased in that period. It took the airplane to stimulate the roads to higher speed. The Pennsylvania railroad promises electric trains between Washington and New York at speeds of from 90 to 100 miles an hour. That is as fast as most commercial airplanes can fly safely.

Eventually all railroads will be operated electrically between important centers and train speeds of 100 miles an hour will be common.

CHICAGO
COUNT KEYSERLING, the German traveler and philosopher, says that Chicago is the most typically American city. Raymond M. Hood, president of the New York Architectural League, told his fellow-architects the other night that they hadn't seen any real American architecture until they had seen Chicago's new skyscrapers.

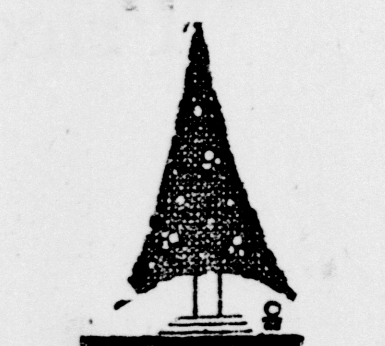

Every time I go back to Chicago I feel as if I were getting a fresh inoculation of Americanism. No other city so completely expresses the American spirit of today. In no other city of which I know do the ordinary people have so many and such wonderful opportunities to get the most out of life. New York still looks to Europe and the past for its traditions and culture; Chicago is developing a culture of its own which will set the American standard for centuries to come.

DIRECTIBLES
AIRPLANES stir man's pride in his humanity's achievement of what the birds have always known. Airships like the Los Angeles or the Graf Zeppelin stir the imagination with something like awe. They resemble nothing else on earth. They might be visitors from another planet.

It is possible that the discovery that man can ride through the air suspended from a bubble of gas will prove in a hundred years to be more important than the invention of the airplane. Directibles will get bigger and bigger, safer and safer. Already they can navigate where planes are forced down. A Zeppelin 1,200 feet long is being built at Akron. That is larger than the largest water-borne ship.

The directibles of the future will bear the same relation to the airplane that the motorbus does to the ordinary passenger automobile, or that the ocean liner does to the speed-boat. Perhaps a combination of the principles of the two types of aircraft may some day displace both as we now know them.

The Silent Salesman—Where People Buy, Sell and Exchange at a Minimum Cost

"Footlights and Fools" At Oriental Theatre

A new Colleen Moore, singing and dancing her way into the hearts of her audience. That is what "Footlights and Fools," newest all talking, singing, and dancing picture coming to the Oriental theater Friday, Dec. 20, brings to the motion picture public. This spectacular production has several of its scenes filmed in color.

An unusual Holiday stage show is featured at the Oriental theater for next week. The production is called "Land of Make Believe" and features in addition to Lou Kosloff and his orchestra some of the finest singers and dancers seen at the Oriental. Mother Goose parades across the stage with Jack Horner. A veritable fairyland is there, toys, goblins... and happiness galore.

"Romance of Rio Grande" At The Roosevelt Theatre

With the exception of scenes taken in the Spanish hacienda, the entire locale for "Romance of Rio Grande," the thrilling all talking picture now playing at the Roosevelt theater, is laid in the wild regions of the historical southwest, below the Rio Grande.

To gain its pictorial magnificence, Alfred Santell, the director, explored that section of northern Arizona and New Mexico which provided the background for Miss Gerould's pulsating romance of the old west. Here he had access to the small stretch of unsettled territory existing in the United States where the adventures of the pioneers were reenacted.

"Three Live Ghosts" Talking Picture At United Artists

"Three Live Ghosts," that hilarious story of the adventures of three friends, officially dead, but actually very much alive, continues as the current attraction at the United Artists theater. This story founded on the stage play of the same name, is a riot of laughter from the start to the finish. The predicament that the three friends find themselves in due to the "taking" ways of one of their group is the funniest situation ever seen on the screen.

The plot concerns three returned veterans, who were officially dead. One of them is wanted by the police for a crime, he once committed, and another, still shocked in the war, is always taking things that do not belong to him. The adventures of this hilarious trio are as amusing as anything that has been seen on the screen so far.

George Arliss Stars "Disraeli," Talking Epic at McVickers

Disraeli, mightiest of statesmen, portrayed by George Arliss, one of the greatest character actors of today, in one of the best pictures ever produced. That is what awaits movie fans at the McVickers Theater this week. George Arliss is an internationally famous stage star, the play is one that has established an enviable reputation on the legitimate stage, and nothing has been spared to make the entire production one of the outstanding pictures of the year. It is certain that this cinema finally surpasses anything that has ever been produced on the stage. It has everything that the stage has, plus all of the art and witchery of the talking screen.

A stellar cast is featured in addition to George Arliss. The part of opposite Mr. Arliss is taken by his wife, who has appeared before in pictures. The story concerns that particular part of the great statesman's life in which he was interested in the purchase of the Suez Canal. Political intrigues merge into love scenes in this superb drama of a super statesman, the action flows onward without pause, and above all stands that master character actor, George Arliss.

"Their Own Desire" "Song Shop" on Stage

Norma Shearer, more gorgeous than ever, giving one of the finest performances of her career, comes to the Chicago theater for a week, starting Friday, December 20, in her latest all talking picture "Their Own Desire." Hailed as better than "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney," Norma shows more than ever that she is one of the finest actresses on the talking screen.

The combination of Lewis Stone and Miss Shearer in one picture is sure to result in as fine a piece of acting as can be seen in any production. Lewis Stone is known as the possessor of one of the best voices on the screen today, and Norma is also possessed of a remarkably clear voice.

The plot of this feature production is as unusual as is the cast. Sweet love scenes blend into emotional crisis that fairly leaves one gasping. The picture has everything a good picture should have and can easily be ranked among the best productions of the year.

MANY VETERANS AND FAMILIES IN DIRE NEED, SAID

Cook County Council,
V. F. W., Appeals to Christmas Spirit

The Cook county council of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, through their Christmas Relief committee, is making an effort to see that all needy families of service men, and especially the families of service men in the hospitals, secure the necessary food, clothing, shoes, medical attention, etc., during this Christmas season.

About 28,000 men are confined to hospitals, 12,000 of these are receiving no compensation from the government. It is these families mainly that we are striving to reach. This fund will be distributed regardless of whether the needy cases are members of this organization or not. For the men in the hospitals, they are collecting such articles of wearing apparel as socks, ties, slippers, underwear, bathrobes, cigarettes, other smokes, candles, books, etc. For the families there will be a great demand for clothing, for the adult and child, food of all kinds, fuel, toys for the children—in fact anything that a family in destitute circumstances may utilize.

This organization comprises every post of the V. F. W. in Cook county and includes local members of the National and Department organizations as well. General Frank S. Dickson, former Adjutant General of the State of Illinois is one of the committee members in charge of this work, while E. H. Gabrielson is commander of the council, with Jas. D. Black, chairman of the Christmas Relief committee. Headquarters are located at Room 1605 at 105 West Monroe street; the phone number is Randolph 4096. If you have any of the necessities of life, or gifts, to contribute, please phone, or write the committee. Make your checks payable to Major E. V. Dickson, treasurer, 105 W. Monroe street; the Guardian National bank is the depository for this fund.

Lightning and Swimming

The bureau of standards says that it does not consider it dangerous to go swimming when it is lightning. This does not mean that one cannot be killed by lightning while in swimming. The chances, however, of one being killed by lightning while swimming are comparable to the chances one takes while walking in a field and in an everyday working life may be considered unimportant.

Along The Boy Scout Trail

"If you are going to do anything permanent for the average man you have got to begin before he is a man. The chances of success lie in working with the boy, not the man." Roosevelt.

ARE YOU
WEAVE YOU
HAVE YOU
DO YOU KNOW

A BOY

If you can answer yes to any of these questions you will be interested in the Boy Scout program. What is this program and what are its aims and purposes? There would be as many different answers to this question as the number of people trying to reply. Some would be erroneous; others correct in part but very few, if any, would be able to correctly define the cause of this great Boy movement—the Boy Scouts of America, which is the largest boy's organization in the world. For this reason we have prepared a series of articles dealing with all phases of the Boy Scout program and organization. These will appear each week under the above heading and you will find them full of interesting, readable facts. Watch for them.

"Boy Minded"

Those vitally interested in aviation and its promotion are termed "air minded." If we are to be successful in boy work we must essentially be "boy minded." Lord Robert Baden Powell, the creator of Scouting, certainly met this requirement for the Boy Scout program is just "boy all over." It is of sufficient scope to satisfy the original instinct of every boy to be constantly busy. It is definite in its requirements and yet the Scout has sufficient freedom to permit unhindered development into manhood. It meets the boy on his own ground and speaks his own language with a challenge for constructive doing and thinking. The "don't" is changed to "do." The Scout learns the "why" of all things he does. The boy wants it. Clean, honest living are not only urged but practiced. Where leadership is right boys remain in Scouting several years.

Boys are Boys

Boys today are not a whole lot different from the boys of a generation past. Most of those who are now decrying the young generation just have poor memories. The world, however, is different. Conventions and customs have changed with the advent of industrialism. These changes have made it constantly more difficult for boys to really be boys and still maintain the confidence of their elders. Boys are not naturally bad but just inclined to be busy and in most cases their elders are too busy to help them satisfy that desire. They keep busy anyway and as a result they are hailed into the Juvenile Courts for just being busy. The boys suffer, their parents suffer and the public suffers. The Boy Scout program keeps boys busy under adult guidance and supervision. The ounce of prevention is worth more than a pound of cure.

BOY SCOUTS

WIN HONORS

Following the Court of Honor ceremony, the Scouts sang songs and staged a brief exhibition of scouting. Refreshments were served by the Scout mothers after which the meeting adjourned.

This is the first Court of Honor ceremony for some time to be held in Arlington Heights for the boys of Arlington Heights and the Community should feel very proud of the fine showing and the splendid work the Scouts are doing under the very able leadership of their Scoutmasters and assistants. Mr. McElhose, Mr. Goumas, Mr. Fred Militzer, Mr. Parker, Mr. Malzahn, Mr. Roth, all scouts in "the Heights." Besides the Scout officials taking part in the program the following men were also present: P. H. Roth, chairman of Troop Five; D. H. McNally; Mr. H. W. Flinn, and Mr. T. H. Wilson.

Thanks are extended by the boys to all who assisted in making the Court of Honor so pleasant and it goes without saying that the "gas-trophic Delights" hit the bullseye. Thanks for the pop donated by Muller brothers of Arlington Heights.

St. James Parochial School Gave Christmas Program Wed. Eve.

The program at St. James school hall Wednesday night was a great and gratifying success despite the storm and many attendant hindrances. First the director of the play, Miss Behmuller of Park Ridge was prevented from coming on account of the storm.

The first number was Santa's Toy Shop given by children of first and second grades, was a delightful success. Of course the dolls were sure live little folks and even their mothers were amazed that those wiggly little sprites could be induced to sit still so long. The second number was "When Santa had Rheumatiz," given by the third and fourth grades. Poor old Santa. The doctors and nurses resorted to all the old fashioned heroic treatment, poultices, herbs and the like and after putting him faithfully through the old regime Santa was as good as new.

The fifth and sixth grades gave a Christmas pageant, and the place of Joseph had to be supplied by the one who had prepared for the part by his understudy. The character

It takes mothers, boys.

Regular troop meetings on Monday evenings at 7:30.

Troop 7 and the Wolf Cub pack meet at the high school.

Troop 5 meets at the American Legion home on West Campbell street.

If you hear a purring sound in the southwest part of town, don't look for a contented cat—it's a try-out of that troop truck.

Some bunch of trainers—it's eating out of their hands now.

More anon.

Among the Missing

Durni's Bulletin Board
Robert Jackson, Frank Jahn, Louis Van Gelder, Richard Wiedner, James Hauff, Robert Peterson, Roland Meyer, Joe Dominick, Merlen Forsen, Richard Wilke, Vernon Sebastian, Albert Kahling, have been placed on the suspended list for non attendance at Scout meetings.

Continued absence for the balance of December, will erase their names from the troop roster.

Better get in, fellows, there's lots coming along with two troops operating.

Robert Mors has resigned from Troop 7, due to increased studies. Sorry to have to have you go Bob, but get that education.

Come back soon.
Complete rosters of the two troops will be published shortly with other interesting notes regarding the individual scouts.

Watch the Scout Column.
And now Scouts let's give all our friends and relatives, especially that hard working, loyal bunch of mothers in the Auxiliary, a MERRY XMAS acters were sacred Bible personages, suitably costumed, and presenting an impressive picture in which they acted well their several parts. Tony Lukhaub had prepared a musical number to be given in his skillful style on his fine instrument, as an interlude but was unable to do this because of the fact that Francis Metz, who had the part of Joseph, failed to appear, and fears of an accident prompted Toney to go out to find him, and thus forego the pleasure of his own part. His long strenuous, and unsuccessful search in the storm so exhausted Toney that he, always so ready and so pleasing with his music, had a breakdown and was unable to go on with his part.

The next number was a "Dutch Dance" given by Lorraine Hills and Elizabeth Riffert in pretty Holland costumes. The next number "When the Christ Child Came in" presented by the 7th and 8th grades and well were their difficult parts given, showing not only their own rare comprehension of the parts, but the splendid training they had received from their faithful teachers. Throughout the play Mrs. Raoul Peeter was pianist, in rehearsals, drill and in the grand finale the successful presentation of this sacred Christmas play she did well, and beautifully her part.

We desire to congratulate Rev. Father Gall, his teachers and all who assisted in making possible the fine success of this charming play.

Our hearts go out to Toney Lukhaub in his disappointment over his part. It was his kindly impulse to go to the assistance of others, always ready to help others in trouble caused him to miss his long anticipated part in welcoming the Christ child.

We are reminded "Of the Other Wise Man," who stonning on the way to rescue those in distress he missed his part. But O, the joy of the voice that comforted him. "Inasmuch as ye did it unto the least of one of these, ye did it unto me." Recently I say Toney's part was not a failure.

Co-Education Problem Theme Talking Film

The problem of co-education and its effect upon youthful minds furnishes the appealing theme of Columbia's powerful all-talking drama of college life, "The College Coquette," which will be shown at the Des Plaines Theatre, Wednesday, December 25.

The plot revolves around the adventures of two girls of widely different nature. One, portrayed by Ruth Taylor, is coquettish, used to masculine companions and ever ready for a good time. She knows how to handle herself in any gathering and is always mistress of any situation. The other is of the clinging ing vine variety, delineated by Jolyn Ralston. She represents the girl who has been reared in a mid-victorian home under the rigid discipline of a stern mother, who does not believe in girls and boys mingling.

Both girls enter a co-educational institution. The results of the different environments and discipline furnish material for an intensely human drama of love and sacrifice. William Collier, Jr., and John Holland have the leading masculine roles.

Konjola Gave Chicago Lady Big Surprise Young Matron Had Tried 8 Remedies; Then Found New and Different Medicine.

MRS. BERTHA HAGEDORN

"I suffered for two years with indigestion," said Mrs. Bertha Hagedorn, 5619 South Oakley avenue, Chicago. "No matter how light my diet, gas formed and painful bloating was sure to follow. I was so constipated that my entire system suffered from accumulated impurities. Cathartics brought but temporary relief. I tried eight other medicines before my friends urged me to take Konjola."

"I had not taken one bottle before my constipated condition began to improve. With continued treatment my digestion so improved that gases no longer formed and I was free from bloating pains. In a short time I was eating whatever I wished of nourishing foods. My general health soon became better than it had been in years. I now sleep well, my nerves are calm and steady, and I am gaining weight. I shall always praise Konjola."

Konjola is sold in Arlington Heights at W. F. Sieburg drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.
